

Marketing tips

Email - do you have access to the emails of your student cohort so you can contact them directly? Can anyone in your school/faculty assist you with this?

Social Media - who is in charge of your school's/faculty's Facebook pages? A post on this can sometimes attract some good attention.

Lectures and Blackboard - can anyone in your school/faculty, assist? How about your course coordinators? Sometimes they can help you to advertise via lectures (e.g. use a PowerPoint slide), or by a Blackboard announcement.

Learning Centres - does your school/faculty have learning centres or spaces where you could drop in and talk to students directly?

Clubs and Societies - is there a UQU club or society related to your desired cohort? Contact them to see if they can post on their social media or can help contact your desired cohort more directly.

School/Faculty Events - are there any upcoming events at which you can promote this opportunity?

University Events - if there are applicable events / weeks / promotions being held by UQ, try to co-ordinate to link in to these activities e.g. UQ Sustainability Week, T & L Week, Research Week etc.

Newsletters - does your school/faculty have a newsletter where you could include an advertisement or announcement?
